Funding Programme

European Digital Media Observatory (EDMO) - National and multinational hubs Deadline date: 26 September 2023 17:00:00 Brussels time

Scope

Support the operations of independent national or multinational hubs pulling together a national/multinational multidisciplinary community composed of academic researchers, fact-checkers, open-source investigation organisations, media practitioners and other relevant stakeholders to create a network capable of quickly detecting and analysing disinformation campaigns, as well as producing content to support national and local media and inform about regarding emerging harmful disinformation campaigns. They will work in cooperation with EDMO and contribute to its activities providing fact-checks, media literacy materials, scientific articles, surveys on disinformation trends, situational analyses and assessments of online platforms' policies to address disinformation-related harms.

Detect, analyse, and disclose disinformation campaigns at national, multinational and EU levels, and their impact on society and democracy. To this end, hubs will analyse relevant actors, vectors, tools, methods, dissemination dynamics, and targets of disinformation campaigns in coordination with EDMO. Hubs will monitor the evolution of disinformation-related harms on relevant audiences. Each hub will also support a regular assessment of the impact of relevant disinformation campaigns on social and democratic processes, as well as the effectiveness of the policies set out by online platforms to counter various disinformation phenomena. In addition, the hubs will actively participate in the EDMO joint activities of fact-checking and research and promptly react to EDMO requests linked to emerging disinformation issues.

Create tailor-made media literacy campaigns for the covered territory or linguistic area. Hubs will leverage the exchange of good practices and materials coordinated by EDMO and contribute to the EDMO repositories with newly created educational and training materials.

	Cooperate with national authorities for the monitoring of online platforms' policies and digital media ecosystem in the territory or linguistic area covered by the proposal. In particular, they will provide relevant insights which might help competent national authorities, including the audio-visual regulator(s), monitor the implementation of the Strengthened Code of Practice on Disinformation by its signatories.
Objectives (bullet points)	The European Digital Media Observatory (EDMO) has been created to support an independent multidisciplinary community to tackle the phenomenon of disinformation. EDMO is composed of a central platform and governance which support and coordinate the work of the EDMO national/multinational hubs. The objective of this topic is to finance the work of independent national /multinational hubs for analysis of digital media ecosystems to ensure the coverage of geographical areas covered by the EDMO hubs for which the funding is ending at the end of 2023 and in 2024. A national/multinational hub involves organisations active in one or several Member State(s), that will provide specific knowledge of local information environments to strengthen the detection and analysis of disinformation campaigns, improve public awareness, and design effective responses relevant to national audiences. The activities of the hubs should be independent from any public authority. These national/multinational centres will focus their activities on emerging digital media vulnerabilities and disinformation campaigns, which are of special relevance within the territory and/or linguistic area in which they will operate. Multinational hubs will cover more than one Member State with similar media ecosystems within an EU region.

Funding Programme Boosting Digital Skills of Young pupils, in particular girls Deadline date: 26 September 2023 17:00:00 Brussels time
Scope	The aim of this action is to pilot actions to increase the number of students pursuing digital studies and careers, with a special focus on increasing the participation of girls. It will support joint actions between leading technical higher education institutions, businesses and schools to promote digital studies, through hands-on activities and challenge-based projects. Another aim of this action is to scale up the EU Code Week initiative, putting it on a stronger and broader footing, thus further increasing its impact beyond the > 4 million people reached every year, among which almost half are young women and girls. For example, the actions will finance summer schools for high-school students in digital areas, and career days for people interested in digital, to encourage more gender diversity and promote exchanges between higher education institutions and primary and secondary schools on digital topics. Digital Europe Programme consortia already awarded under the first WP could also be leveraged, to give the possibilities to younger students to access the state-of-the-art laboratories, experience the campus facilities and follow seminars from the most renowned experts in Quantum computing, Cybersecurity, AI, and cloud, among others. Special attention should be given to the role of girls and women in the digital field, with a focus on debunking stereotypes and tackling the self-efficacy and confidence gap. This action is in line with Action 13 of the Digital

	Education Action Plan (2021-2027), which aims to enhance girls' and women's digital competencies through projects like Girls Go Circular and ESTEAM Fests.
Objectives (bullet points)	Students in digital and ICT disciplines represent a minority, in 2021 they were 4.5% of total graduates. There is also a severe gender balance issue, with only 19% of ICT specialists and one in three science, technology, engineering and/or mathematics (STEM) graduates being women. During the Structured Dialogue for digital education and skills, Member States also report about competition for the few pupils that have suitable profiles and interest in studying STEM disciplines at the university level. To fill the significant shortage of sector specialists using advanced digital technologies and ICT specialists, it is necessary to increase the pool of pupils who would be ultimately interested to study STEM and ICT, with a special focus on girls and women who are vastly underrepresented in the digital field. Boosting the development of digital skills from an early age and in a continuous manner is essential for influencing the level of digital skills of the EU population and the number of male and female students that will consider studies and careers in ICT. Moreover, evidence shows that pupils who are involved in the learning of coding or computational thinking from an early age are more likely to continue studying ICT or digital-related fields and this has an impact for example on the number of girls choosing this study path. In the bilateral dialogues with Member States as part of the structured dialogue on digital education and skills, many called for innovative approaches to attract young people, especially girls as of primary school (or even earlier), to digital careers and to encourage a mindset shift in their perception. This action will therefore include dedicated activities to encourage girls and women to take part in digital studies.
